

WORLD RABIES DAY SPECIAL

World Rabies Day is September 28, 2010. This worldwide event is to raise awareness of the danger of Rabies to both people and pets. Rabies is not just a Third World Country problem. We have seen incidents of rabid animals in our own area. All it takes to transmit this deadly disease to humans is a bite wound or the rabid animal's saliva entering into an open wound the person already has.

In honor of World Rabies Day, New River Animal Hospital is offering a one day special on both dog and cat rabies vaccines. The animal must be over 3 months old to have the vaccine. Also, the newly changed WV law states pets can go for 3 years after the first year booster instead of 2 years as in previous years.

The usual cost of a rabies vaccine with the office exam is $40.00. For this day only the cost will be $28.00. That's a BIG 30% SAVINGS! Don't miss this great opportunity to protect your family and your pet.

Note: Any services other than the rabies vaccine will be billed at the regular price. This includes a consultation on any other problem the animal may have.
